Street-Smart Style

Investing in the perfect wardrobe requires equal parts fashion sense and financial savvy. And no one has more of both than the women who report on Wall Street...and look amazing doing it. We asked our four favorite "money honeys" to share shopping strategies you can bank on.

● "Buy a great, feminine suit, and wear the skirt and jacket separately to create several different outfits."

● "If it takes too long to rationalize buying an item, that's an instant sign you shouldn't have it."

● "Clean out your closet regularly. You get a tax write-off when you donate clothes to charity, and it helps you avoid overbuying similar items."

● "I keep a monthly budget and pay close attention to how much money I spend on clothes compared to other things. Like your stocks, you want your money to be diversified."
