WHERE TO SHOP NOW
Summerville, SC

Just half an hour outside Charleston, this town offers fun shopping without the crowds. Visit on Third Thursdays, when stores stay open until 8 p.m.

No. 1
SAVVY ROSE
 A stock of trendy threads and accessories might be what draws shoppers to Savvy Rose, but it's the service that keeps 'em coming back. The staff is honest and friendly in dispensing style tips, and the game-day tunics, bold bangles ($18), and cozy knits appeal to moms and daughters alike. savvyroseboutique.com

No. 2
SIMPLE TO SUBLIME
 Drawn by ideas of sustainable living, Samantha Moore developed Simple to Sublime into the best stop in town for fair-trade clothing, shoes, and gift items such as South Carolina coasters ($25 for set of four). In addition to other brands, Samantha also sells her own line of natural beauty products, including body lotions, soaps, and facial cleansers for him and her. simplesublime.com

No. 3
SOUTHERN BELLE EPOQUE
 Dawn Warfield, an avid consignment shopper, moved to town four years ago and opened this trove of gently used styles. Patience is required to sift through the racks of like-new Lilly Pulitzer dresses, Kate Spade bags, and St. John sweaters ($195), but it's worth it for the thrill of the hunt. You might even walk out with an authentic Chanel bag for half of what you would normally pay. southernbelleepoque.com

No. 4
VINTAGE SOUTH
 Cindy and Tim King pull from the South's rich antiques culture and their own love for restored relics to create farm tables, candlesticks ($15), and nightstands made from reclaimed barn wood, railroad carts, and old scrap metal. Custom work is also available for everything from a Lineberry cart-turned-kitchen island to an industrial-fan coffee table. vintagesouth.biz

No. 5
A VERY LITTLE BOOKSTORE
 Although it's tiny, this shop is mighty in its collection of titles for kids and young adults. To promote reading, owner Natalie Sober hosts story time on Tuesday and Friday mornings, in addition to a weekly book club for teens. Browse classic children's titles as well as works from local authors. averylittlebookstore.com

No. 6
PEOPLE, PLACES, & QUILTS
 For 25 years, Diane Frankenberger has attracted quilters with her dizzying array of colorful fabrics, patterns, and quilt kits ($50 for the one shown above), all stocked in a 6,000-square-foot space. Whether you're a master quilter or newly initiated into the craft, this emporium—complete with Australian, Asian, and 1800s-reproduction fabrics—will have you covered. ppquilts.com

SHOPPING BREAK!

Try a hand-dipped chocolate milk shake at Guerin's Pharmacy, the state's oldest drugstore. guerinspharmacy.com For something a bit more substantial, order the locally made Jazzed-Up Pimiento Cheese and a charcuterie plate at Accent on Wine & More. accentwine.com
