

Bio for Christine Bertie – Real Estate Agent

Hi! I'm Christine Bertie. I'm a Sales Licensee in Allentown. After graduating from Emmaus High School, I went into the world of real estate and have never looked back. My first taste of real estate was working as a Property Manager for five years overseeing residential investments in the Allentown, Bethlehem and Bath areas.

A native of the Lehigh Valley, I am familiar with the neighborhoods, school districts, shopping areas, activities and lifestyle of Allentown and its surrounding areas. I have been a resident of Emmaus Borough for six years. My precocious five year old son, Kamron, attends kindergarten in the East Penn School District. Together we like to sing and play board games. In my spare time, I am a parent volunteer with his class and enjoy watching Kamron's soccer team compete. My detailed experience in real estate just adds to my knowledge of finding you the ideal place to live!

Upon receiving my license through the Pennsylvania State Commission, I immediately decided to work for Century 21 Pinnacle. Century 21 Pinnacle is NOT like most Real Estate Brokerages. It is very unique. Unique in the sense of the amazing support and care I receive from my brokers and coworkers. We are a family here and they will look out for my clients as well as I do. I really LOVE my career and I am successful with taking care of my clients. This is my niche and I will do my best whether I am helping you find the perfect home or assisting you in selling your home.

My philosophy is to help people!

When you engage upon a partnership with me, you have the assurance of knowing you are associated with a dedicated, caring professional. I am able to translate my extensive people skills to my real estate business. Whether buying or selling your home, I guarantee my clients a smooth transaction and total satisfaction.

I truly believe that the relationship between the client and Realtor is an extremely personal one. I am a compassionate listener with a great sense to see a situation from your perspective. This allows me to help you based on my expert knowledge while carefully considering what's right for you.

I take great pride in my personalized attention and extraordinary service. When you work with me, you can be certain you are working with a professional with the utmost integrity and honesty. My success is contingent upon your happiness. I look forward to meeting with you and exceeding your expectations!
