Which Implant Is Right for You?

Breast implants, in the modern form, have been around since the early 1960's. Before that, polyester sponges and even free silicone injections were attempted. The first implants were silicone gel, and over the last 50 years, many changes have been made.

"When I do a consultation for breast implants, most patients tell me to just put in the 'best' one," says Dr. Yager. "That's not a simple decision, as I do not feel that any implant is the best. Each has advantages and disadvantages, otherwise, there would be only one." Factors to consider include patient's current breast size, their desired size, whether or not they've had or are planning to have children, developmental deformities, weight, amount of breast gland, and tightness of the skin—to name just a few!

How can you tell which implant is right for you? Come to Yager Esthetics for a consultation, and let Dr. Yager walk you through all of the options. And while no one implant can be considered "best" for everyone, this Dr. Yager does promise: "If you see it in my practice, it is because I have personally investigated it and found it to be of the best quality."

Safe Tattoo Removal for Darker Skin

Yager Esthetics was created to serve the Hispanic community. Since 1997, I have tried to help my patients achieve their esthetic goals through plastic surgery, injectables, lasers, skin care products, treatments, and peels specific to their skin type. The latest breakthrough has been tattoo removal.

We are proud to offer PicoSure® Tattoo Removal, the safest and most effective technology for the Latin patient. What's the difference? Traditional lasers use heat that can limit results and produce dark spots, whereas this new ultra-fast pressure wave technology provides more complete results in fewer treatments.

Whether you want to erase an error of judgement from your past or your old tattoo doesn't suit your new career, please come in for a consultation.

WHAT'S #TRENDING?

#PlasticSurgery has become the #1 trending healthcare hashtag in the world,¹ according to the American Society of Plastic Surgeons (ASPS).

Still, according to a report last month in the society's official medical journal, "only a small percentage of plastic surgery 'tweets' consist of evidence-based information posted by credentialed plastic surgeons."²

"Make sure you have a reliable source for your #PlasticSurgery information," Dr. Yager advises. "You can see if the poster is a Board Certified Plastic Surgeon by going to plasticsurgery.org and entering the name. Many doctors who do plastic surgery are not trained plastic surgeons, no matter what the website or hashtag says. Be smart and be safe."

MARK YOUR CALENDAR!

Coming Soon to the yGallery

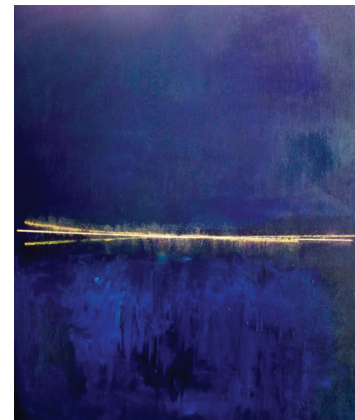

Established by Dr. Yager in 2010, the yGallery is an on-site free art space dedicated to promoting Hispanic artists through an opening-night party followed by several weeks of in-office exhibition. "Plastic Surgery is the perfect blend of art and medicine, and being able to enhance the experience of my patients means the world to me," says Dr. Yager. It's also inspired the Pequeños Picassos program, which has generated thousands of dollars in funding for art programs and scholarships to children in the community.

Join us on Friday, March 17 at 7pm for an evening of mixed media arts.

Celebrated Latino artist Celestino Ortiz will be on-hand along with an array of hand-picked Hispanic talents from a variety of countries.

Light refreshments will be served.

Email EVENTS@DRYAGER.COM by Wednesday, February 22, to secure your admission.
